PROFILE

I am a person who believes we deserve finer things in life. Therefore, I chose to code to solve the problems we face and to make the world a better place. I grew my teamwork and communication skills while I was studying Performing Arts where I had to collaborate and perform on stage. I like planning and managing my time. That's how I ensure I deliver my best work on schedule. And as I'm growing, I'm becoming more resilient to whatever life throws at me.
